

REPTILE SUBSTRATES

Different reptiles have different substrate requirements. All reptile substrates are not safe for all reptiles, so be sure to research your herp's habitat requirements. Some species need to tunnel, tropical species need a moist substrate, desert species a dry substrate. Carnivorous reptiles require a safe substrate to prevent risk of impaction if ingested. There are many popular reptile beddings, all with unique benefits for specific habitat needs:

ALFALFA MEAL

- Safe for carnivorous reptiles like Bearded Dragons, Iguana's, Land Tortoises, Monitors and Uromastyx
- Easily digestible
- Bacteriostatic agent helps reduce germ and bacterial growth

BARK BLEND

- Ideal for Chameleons, Frogs, Rainforest Geckos, Salamanders and Newts
- Bark holds moisture, and ideal ground cover for tropical and forest habitats
- Encourages natural digging and burrowing behavior
- Evenly distributes heat

CALCIUM SAND

- Ideal for Bearded Dragons, Desert Geckos, Uromastyx, King Snakes, Skinks and Monitors
- Creates a natural, comfortable desert environment
- Stimulates natural digging and burrowing behavior
- Excellent heat conductor
- Made with non-toxic colorants and fine-grade calcium carbonate

COCONUT

- Excellent for Chameleons, Frogs, Green Anoles, Rainforest Geckos, Salamanders and Newts
- Highly absorbent bedding keeps optimum humidity level without significant decay
- Compressed blocks expand to soft bedding for reptiles that love to jump or burrow

DESERT BLEND

- For desert dwelling reptiles – Bearded Dragons, Monitors, Skinks, Uromastyx
- 100% natural ground English walnut shells ground to a uniform size
- Excellent heat conductor and retention
- Ideal sand substitute

JUNGLE MIX

- Ideal for tropical and forest habitats – Frogs, Rainforest Geckos, Toads, Snakes
- Promotes burrowing, breeding, nesting and egg incubation
- Holds moisture for humidity-loving reptiles
- Richly organic with soft texture and loamy scent
- Blend of sphagnum moss and fir shavings holds a naturally healthy moisture level

LIZARD LITTER

- Ultra-absorbent bedding is specially sized for the safety and comfort of reptiles
- Ideal for Skinks, Snakes, Monitors and Swifts
- Premium white fir and ground eucalyptus is non-toxic with a fresh scent

COMPRESSED FROG MOSS

- For Rainforest Frogs, Toads, Chameleons, Anoles, Rainforest Geckos, Salamanders, and Newts
- Stores moisture to maintain healthy humidity levels
- Organic moss expands 12Xs – just add water, then mist for a long lasting green and healthy environment

TERRARIUM MOSS

- Great for amphibians and reptiles requiring moist habitats - Chameleons, Frogs, Anoles, Rainforest Geckos, Salamanders, and Newts
- Holds moisture, generating higher levels of humidity beneficial for tropical and forest species
- Natural moss contains no dyes or chemicals

TERRARIUM LINER

- Safe, fuss-free plush green or brown carpet cuts to size
- Absorbent, non-abrasive material will not irritate sensitive feet
- Cannot be digested
- Treated with biodegradable enzyme for odor control
- To clean, simply rinse with cold water and reuse
